

The Best of 2008 KUCI Staff Picks

DJ Kyle

Host of Things That Are Square

10. Stephen Malkmus & The Jicks Real Emotional Trash
THE indie rock poster boy takes another step towards his inner classic rock guitar god, but his heart is still into stuffing hook after hook into every tune he pens. Granted, every Malkmus solo album is the methadone shot that we take to help us ween off of the pure heroin kick of Pavement, but it's still a good high.

9. Ponytail Ice Cream Spiritual
An album of maintained, nerdy guitar spaz. Not spaz in the angular/hoarse sense, but spaz in the "youthfully overexuberant" sense. In the "mom-I-want-you-to-see-my-new-Pokemons-and-I-can't-really-breathe-until-I-make-sure-you-know-all-about-them" sense.

8. The Mae Shi Hillyh
The absolute best avant-pop-electro-punk album loosely based on Christianity released this year (the title is read "Hell Yeah," by the way). Videogame bleeps team up with arithmetic shout-alongs and powerchords to create an album that's catchy, fun, and energetic, all done with a strong sense of "not taking themselves seriously."

7. Los Campesinos! Hold On Now, Youngster...
A septet of be-cardiganed Welsh kids released an album that launched a thousand AIM away messages. Lyrics pulled straight from an especially witty LiveJournal, mixed with a deeply-held adoration of Belle and Sebastian, and wrapped in a cathartic pop assault complete with shout-alongs and glockenspiel.

6. King Khan and The Shrines The Supreme Genius of King Khan and the Shrines
Two extremely energetic flavors of music, garage rock and soul have been fused together into a delicious aural treat. Horns and guitars provide the support for King Khan to perform his sweetest James Brown impression for just under an hour.

5. The Lucksmiths First Frost
For fifteen years, this band of absolute sweethearts from Australia have released perfect pop music that warms the heart with the heat of summer. Now they've put out a bit of a winter album, a tad more reserved and a tiny bit cooler.

4. Earthless Live at Roadburn
The three Earthless albums I own, including this double disk behemoth, amounts to seven tracks total. That is because Earthless writes songs in the style of "mind-destroyingly awesome and long, guitar-centric psychedelic explosions." This album consists of two 45-minute long tracks that document the Earthless live experience. I hesitate to make any reference to jam-bands, knowing the type of bile that usually brings into people's throats, but these guys just rock the P&F out for huge extended periods of time, and it stays engaging (and completely awesome).

3. Why? Alopecia
Growing up on hip-hop, Why?'s Yoni Wolf has a sturdy base in rhythm and lyrics. Though, the music he creates is more than happy to incorporate record collections full of the Beach Boys and the Beatles as well as Eric B & Rakim. "Alopecia" continues Wolf's avant-hip-pop string of amazing albums that are as harmonic and catchy as they are rhythmically interesting and lyrically astounding.

2. Girl Talk Feed the Animals
So, it was a pretty weak year for music, so an album as unapologetically fun and party-friendly can handily float to the top of the pile. Sure it's just a mashup album, but the fact that it made it into my stereo about three times more than anything else that came out this year is why it's so high on my list. "Feed the Animals" is far from high art, but it's fun, and amazing to dance to.

1. Mount Eerie with Julie Doiron & Fred Squire Last Wisdom
About four years ago, I went to the Che Cafe down in San Diego to see Mount Eerie play live. If you've not been there, the Che is a wooden, cabin-like building on the campus of UCSD, surrounded by pine trees. It very much gives the impression that you are at camp. When Mount Eerie's Phil Everum took the stage, he asked that all the lights be turned off, and the audience sat on the floor of this cabin, listening to him strum his acoustic guitar and sing his songs of love and nature in his unique sense of melody. Because the lights were off, no one was self-conscious about singing their hearts out. So we all sat together with no light but the moon filtering through pine trees while we all raised our voices together in this beautiful moment where you felt you were part of the universe and deeply excited about how great life can be. I will treasure that experience forever. That's kind of what this album is like.

Brian Bowes, the winner of the KUCI design contest, is an illustrator/designer working in San Francisco, where he lives with his beautiful wife and two cats. Brian has a BFA in Illustration from the California College of Arts and Crafts. He has spent the last two years working as the Coordinator of the Visual Arts Dept. of the California State Summer School for the Arts. Currently he is dedicated to a career in illustration. Brian's work has developed from the rough drawings of youth, which continue to evolve in new and astonishing ways. He is developing a working style in watercolor and is inspired by a range of artists, from Wyeth to Asian ink paintings. Alternately this is mixed with his long love for Science Fiction, Fantasy, and a healthy fascination with shiny old-time machinery. He continues to enjoy the Godzillas and Samurais of the world(s). Brian is interested in commissioned works, portraiture and more. You can see more examples of his work and contact him at www.bowesart.com.

DJ Vivian

Host of Scene and Heard

10. Mount Eerie with Julie Doiron & Fred Squire Last Wisdom
Alone in nature accompanied by lo-fi harmonies, lyrics.

9. Friendly Fires Friendly Fires
Heartbreak, love, and lust. Over Ed's yelp-y vocals make for sexy tunes.

8. The Dodos Visitor
Frantic finger-picked guitar with staccato drums over rushed vocals.

7. Cut Copy In Ghost Colours
Sexy and sleek dance music made by Aussies for the DFA crowd.

6. Los Campesinos! Hold On Now, Youngster...
Loud, abrupt, shout-y vocals in a seven part band with heavy accents.

5. Vivian Girls Vivian Girls
80's style girl vocals moans with hazy guitars, tambourines.

4. Deerhunter Microcastle
The dudes trade shoe-gaze for bigger sounding guitars and clever wordplay.

3. Metronomy Nights Out
Falestos and synth make for good, awkward dancing in dingy nightclubs.

2. Fleet Foxes Fleet Foxes
Very beautiful four-part harmonies over lush folksy guitars.

1. Beach House Devotion
Dreamy, warm organs with spacey, twangy guitars. Ethereal voice.

DJ Sam

Host of Mysterious Rainbow

My list is dominated by noisy music without words that you can usually dance to. I sort of made it based on what I simply listened to the most. Pretty reasonable, right?

10. Duchess Says Anthologie Des 3 Perchoirs
9. Muslims Muslims 08
8. Adventure Adventure
7. Antn Hrkwk Mutually Assured
